

ABBOTTSTOWN MAN HELD FOR
HIT-RUN MISHAP

Charles E. Bowser, 49, Abbottstown, has been charged with hit and run driving as the result of an accident on the Lincoln highway, between New Oxford and Cross Keys, Friday evening, in which Loring Wise, 34, a pedestrian, was so badly injured that he was admitted to the Warner hospital for treatment.

State motor police from the Gettysburg detail arrested Bowser in Abbottstown about a half hour after the accident. They said he had been drinking.

The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock about a half mile east of New Oxford as Bowser drove east in his light coach-type automobile. Wise, who gave a Lancaster county address and said he was enroute from Everett to the home of a brother in Lancaster, was walking east on the south side of the highway. He said the car struck him and kept going.

The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. S. G. Selen, New Oxford, by a motorist who arrived at the scene a few minutes after the collision occurred. Doctor Selen notified the motor police and Officers D. Harris, K. Yemzow and William I. Banzhaf began an investigation immediately.

Bowser was arrested in Abbottstown as he walked toward his car parked in an alley. Police say the right front fender and headlight of Bowser's car had been damaged. Bowser was brought to Gettysburg and jailed. The hit and run driving information against him has been filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore by Officer Harris.

Officer Harris took the injured man from New Oxford to the Warner hospital Friday night. Wise's injuries included a deep laceration of the head, laceration of the left knee and bruises all over the body.

The accident was only the second which motor police here have investigated so far this month.

This morning Bowser was taken before Justice Basehore where he waived a preliminary hearing and arranged to post $500 bail for his appearance in August court.

The Adams County Fish and Game association at its May meeting Friday evening voted to purchase a 12-acre section of the Shealer estate in Straban township along a crossroad connecting the Harrisburg and old Hunterstown roads a mile north of here, providing the necessary money can be raised.

The building committee had recommended the purchase of the land for $800 last month and the proposition has been under consideration since that time.

Dougherty were named to a committee to consider plans for the new organization. R. C. Anderson, county game protector, spoke about methods of interesting prospective members of the auxiliary and in demonstrating to boys and young men the value of the sportsmen's organization.

Two of the "flying post offices" dropped and picked up a quarter ton of mail at 12 Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio cities Friday in the first flight over a 397-mile tri-state route. Six hours were clipped off the normal mail service between Pittsburgh and Huntington, West Virginia.

NEW MINISTERS CHALLENGED TO BE PROPHETIC

Nineteen young ministers were called upon to dedicate their hearts to a prophetic ministry in the Christian church in a baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Lloyd M. Keller, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church in Baltimore, Friday evening in St. James Lutheran church at the 113th annual commencement exercises of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary.

Speaking on the theme of "The Challenge of a Prophetic Ministry," the Rev. Mr. Keller held that challenge to begin with the recognition of the tradition on which the Christian ministry stands and the realization of each individual's responsibility to advance that tradition. The procession of the prophets is a pilgrimage to the shrine of spiritual experience, he asserted while listing a long line of great men of God from time of Isaiah to present-day martyrs.

Cites Modern Life

Piety is the prophet's poise, the speaker pointed out. He urged the seniors to "maintain your spiritual health by keeping close to the source of supply of spiritual energy." He warned of the tendency to crowd spiritual things out of busy modern life.

A prophet's conviction is his power, the Baltimore pastor declared and told the young ministers they must be sure of their God before they can be effective proclaimers and interpreters of Him. The speaker warned against the danger of accepting the doctrine of the insufficiency of individual effort and declared social ills traceable to individual error.

The opening ritual service was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, a member of the seminary faculty. He read the Old Testament lesson from Ezekiel 34:11-16, the Epistle lesson from Revelation 3:7-13 and the gospel lesson from St. Mark 16:9-20. A solo, "The God of Abraham," by Mendelssohn, was presented by the Rev. Emmert G. Colestock, Fairfield Lutheran pastor and an alumnus of the seminary.

Advanced Degrees Awarded
After the singing of the hymn, "Lead on O King Eternal," candidates for degrees were presented by Dr. Herbert C. Allemen, secretary of the faculty, and the degrees were conferred by Dr. John Aberly, president of the seminary.

In addition to the degrees and diplomas given the members of the graduating class, these advanced and graduate degrees were awarded:

Master of sacred theology on the Rev. Luther Samuel Straley, Athens, New York.

Graduate degree of bachelor of divinity on the Rev. Richard Frederick Garndt, Mechanicsburg, and the Rev. Donald Raymond Poole, Renova, Pa. The last degree was given in absentia.

Doctor Aberly spoke briefly to the graduating class after he had distributed the diplomas and announced that each member of the Farmers' market house this morning, Oct. 1, had been made a life member of the Missionary Society of the United Lutheran church through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edwin Eshelman, of Waycross, Georgia.

PUBLISHER OF ANTI-HITLER BOOK KIDNAPED

Bakersfield, Calif., May 13 (AP)—Bound and gagged, George Palmer Putnam, 52, Hollywood publisher and husband of the late Amelia Earhart, was found in an incomplete house here today, a few hours after he was kidnaped from his North Hollywood home.

Putnam, unhurt, said the kidnapers demanded the name of the author of the anonymous book "The Man Who Killed Hitler" and suggested it would be "healthier" if he ceased printing it.

A statewide search for the pair and for Putnam's car, in which they brought him here, was ordered by sheriff's deputies.

"They were very decent to me," Putnam declared. "They didn't rough me at all."

The publisher said he refused their demands and recalled ruefully that he had "thought the other warnings were phony." Receipt of a bullet-ridden copy of the book, two letters and a telephone call threatening his life were reported to Los Angeles police within the last month and on one occasion he fired two shots at a man who was climbing a tree near his bedroom window.

Putnam told officers he had been kidnaped by two men as he entered the garage of his home early Friday night, to leave in answer to a telephone call received by his secretary. He said the men tied him up and drove him here and that he was taken from the car with his hands and mouth taped, but succeeded in freeing himself.

CAPITAL WORRIES AS STATES WAGE OWN TRADE WARS

Washington (AP)—States have built such legal barbed-wire entanglements about themselves during the depression in order to protect home industry that federal officials are seriously concerned about those barriers' effect on business.

The restrictions are in the form of taxes, quarantines, or truck and highway regulations designed to shut out produce coming from other states to compete with local products. No federal law has been found to deal with it as the states have established their power to impose the restrictions.

More than a dozen states have imposed taxes on oleomargarine in order to protect butter producers. But the south, which produces cotton oil for oleomargarine, is retaliating. Wisconsin, as an instance, put a 15 cents a pound tax on oleomargarine. Southern trade organizations hit back at once. Says the Mid-South Cotton Growers association:

"The Wisconsin Manufacturers Association has announced that millions of dollars of contracts for Wisconsin agricultural and manufactured products have already been cancelled by business men in sympathy with southern producers of fats and oils."

Indiana put a tax on out-of-state beer to protect local brewers. Michigan and other states retaliated by drafting a law penalizing beer made in states with such laws as Indiana's. After a year of experience, Indiana repealed it this spring.

California started the business of taxing out-of-state liquors under authority of a faulty wording of the prohibition repeal amendment. She wanted to protect California wine makers. But almost at once her wineries were damaged, because other states followed the Michigan plan of boycotting states with such laws.

Years ago the state Grange shoved an oleomargarine tax through the Idaho legislature. But a few months ago Grange leaders came yelling back to Washington to protest what Nevada had done to Idaho.

Representative Halleck, of Indiana, one of several members of Congress seeking suppression of such laws, is particularly irate about milk regulations. He said regulations once designed to protect the health of milk drinkers had been bent around to protect milk monopolies.

It works this way: City authorities permit entry of milk only from dairies inspected by city or state inspectors. That sounds beneficial. But, says Halleck, in no time at all the dairies within such states persuaded the inspectors to limit their inspections to dairies within the state or within a prescribed area, shutting out other competition.

"In nearly every instance," says Halleck, "milk prices climbed."

He is particularly incensed that the nation's very own capital has that sort of milk inspection scheme.

"Of all the places to have such a racket," said Halleck, "it is the city of Washington, which Congress controls." He said cream in Indiana and Wisconsin is $12 a can while in Washington it is $30.

But the end is not yet. Ohio has gone one better, by proposing a law to tax foreign liquor. Secretary of State Hull put in a protest there. France has a reciprocal trade treaty with the United States and she wants no special taxes on her wines sold in this country.

DOFFS TRICK BEARD AND GETS PART IN MOVIE

Hollywood (AP)—Bill Beedle's pals around South Pasadena are still calling up to exclaim, "Boy, are you lucky!"

Bill Beedle answers "Yea man," or words to that effect.

Lightning struck twice at Bill. The first shaft transformed him into William Holden, minor film actor with a minor contract. The second transformed him into "Golden Boy"—for he's playing the title role in Clifford Odets' play as it is being screen by Director Rouben Mamoulian.

Not Dark Nor Latin

Bill was 21 in April. A month before he had no idea of being in the movies.

For more than a year Columbia studios had been "searching" for an unknown actor to play the "Golden Boy" role—a sensitive, violin-playing puglist of 21, a dark Latin type. Because he is blond and Nordic, Bill Beedle, over in Pasadena Junior College, didn't give the search a second thought.

But Bill was interested in acting. He'd been in a high school play and the performance interested the Pasadena Community Playhouse enough to earn a repeat run at its experimental "playbox" house.

Bill played the part of a 70-year-old man, with beard. If Milton Lewis, a talent scout for Paramount, hadn't strolled past the dressing rooms just as Bill was yanking off his beard, he might never have been screen-tested. But Lewis saw him and made an appointment.

Both Talked Turkey

Bill passed the test, and became William Holden on the Paramount contract list. Then—

Mamoulian and William Perlberg, the "Golden Boy" producer, took a look at the test. "That's it!" they cried.

Columbia and Paramount talked turkey, agreed on a contract giving each studio a call on Bill's appearances. Bill gets $50 a week—to start—plus the chance to appear opposite Barbara Stanwyck.

Just before work on "Golden Boy" started, Bill was wondering what the make-up department would do to turn him into a dark-eyed Latin. One of the plans disturbed him.

"They're going to take the hair off my chest," he complains.

HOUSE MEMBERS TO RENEW FARM BILL ATTACK

Washington, May 13 (AP)—House economy advocates promised today to renew their campaign to slash the Agriculture department appropriation bill, which carried a record-breaking sum of $1,218,666,572 as approved by the senate Friday.

Another struggle over the economy issue was foreshadowed by the proposal of Senator Adams (D-Colo.) that congress blanket appropriations for the next fiscal year with a reduction order designed to save at least $250,000,000.

Adams said he would offer some definite formula to reduce federal spending, once congress has completed work on major appropriation bills.

House democratic leaders reported they were undecided as to whether they would oppose the increases inserted in the farm bill by the senate. Before the measure goes to the White House the differences between house and senate must be reconciled.

When it acted on the bill in March, the house limited it to $835,000,000, refusing by a nine-vote margin to provide $250,000,000 for parity payments and add $60,000,000 to help dispose of agricultural surpluses. The parity payments would be designed to increase the farm purchasing power represented in cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco to the pre-war level.

The senate added $225,000,000 for parity and $113,000,000 for the removal program, before passing the bill, 61 to 14.

The measure includes a $500,000,000 allocation for soil conservation payments, $225,000,000 for parity payments, $113,000,000 for removal of crop surpluses, about $200,000,000 for the federal-aid road program and funds for other regular activities of the agriculture department.

FARMER ON MOVE CAN TAKE HIS GARDEN ALONG

Dallas, Texas (AP)—The Farm Security Administration has developed portable farm assets—even gardens, hen coops and fences—to help tenant farmers fulfill F.S.A. loan requirements.

C. M. Evans, regional F.S.A. director, explains that such loans are made only to those farmers with at least one source of cash income besides cotton.

Owner-tenant cooperation often cannot provide the necessary improvements, so the F.S.A. worked out the portable farm idea. Now the tenant would like to raise chickens, for instance, in order to be eligible for a loan need not be afraid of leaving his coop behind when he moves. The average cost of a portable home for 100 hens is less than $100. It can be dismantled and reassembled with little trouble.

The portable garden plot consists of a fertile soil within a frame about 18 inches deep, four or five feet wide and as long as desired.

Tin cans or tile are used for sub-irrigation. If the farmer moves, he loads the whole thing on a truck—even in mid-season with vegetables flourishing—and hauls it with him.

The F.S.A. estimates a portable garden 20 feet long and five feet wide, properly nurtured, will supply the vegetables for the average sized farm family the year 'round.

The fences are electrified and usually consist of one wire fastened at intervals to stakes. Electricity is supplied by a wind-charger, an automobile battery or a reduced line current. Cost is a few dollars for home-made outfits; up to $25 for factory made.

Ten years ago the United States textile industry had 35,267,000 spindles; now it has only 25,854,000.

KING AND QUEEN AGAIN DELAYED BY ATLANTIC FOG

Aboard Empress of Australia, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Fog again halted the Empress of Australia today and it appeared the liner, carrying King George and Queen Elizabeth on their visit to Canada and the United States, would be a day late in reaching Quebec.

The Empress was fogbound in the iceberg zone 250 miles east of Cape Race, Newfoundland, and 1,080 miles from Quebec, where she was due to arrive at 9:30 a. m., E.S.T. Monday. It was not believed that she could dock before Tuesday.

At 6:15 a. m., E.S.T., today the liner and her escort drifted idly, with fog so thick those aboard the Empress could not see the cruisers Glasgow and Southampton nearby.

Ship's officers admitted that even if the fog lifted shortly it would be impossible to reach Quebec on schedule.

Fog was swirling about the gleaming white liner almost continuously since early Thursday and the vessel was able to proceed little more than 150 miles.

On Friday she covered less than 60 miles and Friday night the Empress started and stopped frequently, her whistle continuously sounding for signals.

The delay in reaching Quebec will disrupt a program prepared weeks in advance. The royal tour of Canada and part of the United States had been timed to the last minute.

When the latest shroud of fog rapped down on the liner Friday night, the King and Queen were on the bridge. Queen Elizabeth was keenly interested when she saw how the ship's engines were stopped and lookouts posted as soon as the fog fell.

The United States has more than 1,200 cotton mills scattered over 30 states from Maine to Texas.

The abbreviation "O.K.," signifying something meets with approval, is generally believed to have originated with President Andrew Jackson, a notoriously poor speller. When Jackson had finished perusing a paper, he scrawled "O.K." in a corner—meaning "All Correct." These last two words, however, he believed, were spelled "Oll Korrect." There is a Choctaw Indian word "Okay," meaning "It is so, and in no other way," so the General may not have been so illiterate as his political opponents charged.

3 UNHERALDED MANAGERS MAKE NEWS IN MAJORS

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There should be room in the record after nearly a month of major league competition for an appraisal of the three managers plucked out of hidden corners in the minors last winter to guide the two St. Louis clubs and Philadelphia's punchy Phillies.

Managers have been brought into the big tent from the side shows before, but probably none have been as little heralded as Ray Blades, who graduated from the Rochester farm in the International league to the St. Louis Cardinals; Fred Haney, who moved from Toledo in the American association to the Browns, and Dr. J. Thompson Prothro who stepped from Little Rock in the Southern association to the Phillies.

Taking over clubs which finished seventh or last in 1938, this trio has made their charges something to be reckoned with. Today the Cardinals are in first place in the National league and the Phillies in sixth. The Browns are parked in sixth in the American league.

The Cardinals stopped the Cincinnati Reds 8-7 Friday for their fourth consecutive victory.

Prothro has the Phillies punch all right. Three of them are among the senior circuit's ten leading hitters and Moe Aronovich is tied for the lead in runs batted in with 20.

They toppled the New York Giants 10 to 6 Friday, scoring their first run on a double steal, and getting the clinching runs in the eighth inning on Aronovich's third homer of the year with two on base.

Haney has the Browns doing the same sort of tricks. The American league's leading batter is Brownie Mel Mazera with a .475 mark. The team is second only to the New York Yankees in team batting and the pitching has been shaping up to expectations.

Right now the ace of the mound staff is Rookie Jack Kramer, who won his third victory without a setback by shutting out the Detroit Tigers 1-0 on two hits Friday.

In the abbreviated schedule Friday caused by teams travelling, there only two other games, the Boston Bees taking a loose jointed contest from the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-5 and the Chicago White Sox nudging the Cleveland Indians 4-3.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
New York, May 13 (AP)—A well-known mid-western football coach was hauled on the carpet the other day and told to tone down his language when addressing his players. . . . There were 118 books operating full blast at the Belmont opener. . . . The Pirates know how it feels to be at home on the road—Polo grounds customers rooted for 'em hard during both games with the Giants. . . . If the Browns trade catcher Joe Glenn up the river to the Red Sox, one and all will say, "well, it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy." . . . On his way here to see Conn and Krieger fight, Joe Louis stopped off in Cleveland to see his old pal Jesse Owens.

Attention, collegers. The Cincinnati Times-Star has discovered a sign over a Covington (Kentucky) beaverny reading: "Live Fish Sandwiches."

Connie Mack, who denied our item that Erie Tipton, Duke star, would jern the Athletics, now admits same. . . . Frank Kanaly, who got the air as Yale's track coach, will be wined and dined by some of his old pupils May 27. . . . One of the entrants in today's Metropolitan A.A.U. ten-mile run will be Jean Berthelet, pastry chef in Jack Dempsey's joint. . . . Bob Pastor takes off by plane Sunday to fight Roscoe Toles next Friday. . . . And the University of Dayton Flyers are seriously considering winging to San Francisco next fall for the St. Mary's game.

He kotched it—It is the proud boast of Jo Gullede, Oklahoma U. star second sacker, that "I can ketch anything." . . . Just to prove it, he went out and ketches the measles.

The Phils would be really dangerous with two more sluggers. . . . We can prove that Mrs. Donald Weiss, of Flint, Michigan, drives 120 miles once a week to play 18 holes of golf. . . . Marquette will have seven letter guys collecting splinters on the bench next fall. Gosh! . . . Al Weil, who is just about the nation's No. 1 fight pilot right now, has added Max Marek, Chicago heavyweight, to his stable. . . . Marek is the bird who trimmed Joe Louis when both were amateurs. . . . Lawrence Skiddy of the Syracuse Herald said of the Red Sox, is the cleanest speaking man in baseball.

Jimmy Pofahl, a native Minnesotan, is Ted Williams' successor as the darling of the Minneapolis baseball fans. . . . A friend bet Sammy Sneed he couldn't take one club and break 90 on his home course. Sam used a sand wedge and polled an 87. . . . If Dr. John P. Carmichael, wandering columnist of the Chicago Daily News, still wants to lay down the Cubs finish in the second division, Stan Kennon of the Newport News (Virginia) Times-Herald will accommodate him. . . . Ohio is getting ready to announce a new national golf tournament—for cadies, with college scholarships to the winner and runner-up.

Bush league hazard—A dust storm caused postponement of a northern league game between Crookston, Minnesota, and Winnipeg, Manitoba. . . . And a night game, at that.

Today's guest star—Al Sharp, Chattanooga Times: "All this business about making par tougher for pros and top notch amateurs in tournaments sounds like Gene Sarazen's proposal to make the cups larger. . . . 'Ain't no sense to it.' . . . Nobody has broken 60 on a regulation course in a tournament yet."

Hershey Stadium To Be Opened Next Thursday

Hershey, Pa., May 13 (AP)—The new $1,500,000 Hershey stadium, latest addition to the extensive civic facilities of this tiny eastern Pennsylvania community, opens formally next Thursday night with a program of midget auto races.

The stadium will be the scene of college, high school and professional football games next fall. John B. Sclenger, in charge of amusements at Hershey Park, said six colleges in this section have already booked games here.

The stadium's seating capacity of 15,360 will be increased to 27,000, Sclenger said, if the racing and football "go over."

Gettysburg college is scheduled to meet Albright college in a football game in the stadium next October.

Bullets Place One In Track Finals

Placing third in the 220-yard low hurdles, "Hank" Hangsterfer, Gettysburg college trackman, qualified in the preliminary events Friday afternoon at Rutgers university and will enter the finals today in the Middle Atlantic meet.

Rutgers, defending champion, qualified 17 men while Haverford placed 10. Others to qualified men were: Alfred, Franklin and Marshal, Lehigh and Muhlenberg, each seven; Washington and Juniata, six; Dickinson and Lafayette, four; Delaware and Swarthmore, three; Ursinus, two, and Bucknell, Drexel and Gettysburg, one each.

MOSQUITO-EATING CARP WIN FISHERMEN FRIENDS

Great Falls, Mont. (AP)—There are lots of trout fishermen in Great Falls and trout fishermen despise the lowly carp. But in Great Falls carp are welcome residents.

They made themselves popular last fall after they were washed into city swamps from the overflowing Sun river. Soon they began eating the mosquitoes and the mosquito larvae with which the swamps were infested.

"Now there doesn't seem to be a trace of mosquito larvae on the swamps," says William Shea, sanitary commissioner.

The Texas State Highway commission will restore to its original appearance the old building near Langtry, Texas, in which Roy Bean, famed and picturesque justice of the peace, once discharged the duties of his office.

Biglerville Trips York Springs Nine

Biglerville high defeated the York Springs baseball team in a slugging match at Biglerville Friday afternoon 14-9. Junior Black hurled the first four innings for Biglerville with Oylor finishing. Rocky caught for the victors. Eleven runs in the third inning gave Biglerville victory.

On Monday Biglerville meets Newville high at Newville.

College Instructs Students in Fine Art of Playing

Swarthmore, Pa., (AP)—Swarthmore college thinks one of the graduate's big problems will be how to spend leisure time—so it's teaching hobbies.

President Frank Aydelotte explains that the hobbies don't run along the stamp and coin collecting idea. Rather, students are given an opportunity to become proficient in an individual sport or one of the creative arts.

"These are the two forms of recreation of most value to the college graduate whose work lies in business or in one of the professions," says Dr. Aydelotte, who believes that "even fairly well educated persons today are making a sad misuse of their leisure time."

In the sports field, the college goes beyond ordinary instruction, bringing in top-notch professionals or champions for interest-arousing exhibitions.

For students not interested in athletics, Swarthmore provides a chance to appreciate and practice music, dramatics, painting, writing, photography, or handicrafts.

Play's the thing in the whole plan. To carry out that idea most of the special pursuits are offered entirely aside from the regular curricula with no college credit given. Participation is voluntary.

Each course usually is supervised by a faculty member interested himself in that hobby.

The individual sports—like tennis, golf, badminton, squash, handball and horseback riding are emphasized because there is more opportunity after college for them than for sports requiring team work.

The college operates its intercollegiate athletics on a "play for fun" basis; 67 percent of the 350 men students take part in one or more of the 14 sports in which Swarthmore competes with other schools.

Returning, Merek said he found the dog had dragged the pole and line to shore—with the perch wiggling on the hook.

AUTO FACTORY SALES IN APRIL TOTAL 359,200

Factory sales of passenger cars and trucks during the month of April totaled 359,200 vehicles, according to the estimate of the Automobile Manufacturers Association. This represents an advance of 51 per cent as compared with the corresponding month of last year, and a decline of eight per cent from the preceding month.

During the four months of the present calendar year, 1,414,776 motor vehicles were sold by the United States and Canadian manufacturers. Compared with the first four months of 1938, when the total was 906,475, this represents a gain of 56 per cent.

Sales of the domestic market in March advanced almost 25 per cent over February, making the total for the first quarter 918,151 units, a gain of 81 per cent over the 505,936 units sold in the United States during the first quarter last year. This figure, representing 87 per cent of total factory sales, included 706,118 passenger cars and 152,533 commercial vehicles. Cars increased almost 90 per cent; trucks more than 48 per cent.

Retail sales totaled 748,935 during the quarter, a gain of more than 39 per cent over last year, when 536,904 units were delivered to consumers. Passenger cars accounted for 622,785 of this total, trucks accounted for 126,150 units.

Car sales in March ran two-thirds over February, while truck sales were about 49 per cent ahead in the monthly comparison. In both divisions the relative showing was much better than that of last year.

March sales very nearly overtook production, with the result that at the end of the month only 7,181 units had been sold by the factories in excess of the number which dealers reported having delivered to customers.

Lincoln Highway Connects New York and California Fairs

A smooth boulevard—the longest connecting, improved highway in the world—now runs for 3,000 miles between the World's fair in New York city and the Golden Gate International exposition in San Francisco. It is the Lincoln highway and it passes through Gettysburg.

This historic route, the first—and for many years the only—connecting roadway between the Atlantic and the Pacific, was the first interstate highway in America to be marked for the guidance of tourists. In fact, it was marked long before it was improved.

The Lincoln highway markers have in a large measure disappeared and been replaced with the official state and federal numbers designating the route as a portion of an American highway system which now comprises more than a million miles of paved roads. But in Detroit and Akron and Toledo and Indianapolis, as in many of the communities along the route from coast to coast, the Lincoln highway is still well remembered by the men who worked for years to bring it into existence and make it the world's longest boulevard which it is today.

Thirty Billion Dollar System
In a recent bulletin sent out by the Lincoln Highway association, it is recalled that the organization was formed in the fall of 1913 and began its active work in 1914—just 25 years ago—when there was hardly a mile of pavement, outside of city limits, in all America. Last year, official figures showed more than a million miles of paved highways had been built since. The association pointed out, too, that in that quarter century, and no doubt in large measure due to the highway improvement which those years have witnessed, motor vehicle registrations in the United States grew from 1,711,000 in 1914 to 29,700,000 today. Thirty billion dollars have been spent by the counties, states and the federal government to build an American highway system since the little band of enthusiasts, headed by Carl G. Fisher, of Indianapolis, started to promote sentiment for "good roads" in the United States.

In 1915, it was estimated that some 5,000 or 6,000 cars drove west to the Panama-Pacific exposition in San Francisco, fighting mud and dust, carrying their gasoline, oil and water, and in most cases shipping their cars home rather than risk a return journey. This year the Golden Gate International exposition authorities estimate that some 650,000 automobiles will enter California from the east heading for the current world's fair there after following a dustless boulevard where their predecessors encountered the deep mud of the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, the dust and alkali of the western deserts, the rock-strewn passes of the Rockies and Sierras.

To Honor Pioneers

The Golden Gate International exposition has set aside July 1 as "Lincoln Highway Day" to honor the pioneers who did so much of the early educational work which later grew into a national willingness to spend money for highway improvement. The officials of the Lincoln Highway association, both at the national headquarters in Detroit and along the line from coast to coast, have been invited by the fair to attend a great celebration, again fittingly to commemorate the "completion" of the Lincoln highway. It was announced as "completed" in 1925, but like all great projects it is constantly again being "completed," as growing requirements necessitate widening, straightening, broadening, lighting and beautifying.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Charles O. Harman, who departed this life one year ago, Sunday, May 14th, 1939.

You suffered much, you mourned not.

I watched you day by day.

Flowers laid upon the grave

Will wither and decay.

But the love for you who sleeps

beneath

Will never fade away.

Rest on, dear husband, thy labor is o'er.

Thy willing hands will toil no more.

A faithful husband, both true and kind.

A better husband I could not find.

Oh, how hard I tried to save you!

Prayers and tears were all in vain.

Happy angels came and took you

From this world of toil and pain.

By his wife

Mrs. C. O. Harman.

TURKEY TO GET BRITISH TRADE

(By the Associated Press)
The British-French bloc sought closer ties today with its new ally, Turkey, as a Polish protest to the Danzig senate sharpened the issue between Germany and Poland over the free city.

In London, following Friday's announcement by Prime Minister Chamberlain that Turkey and Britain would aid each other in the event of "aggression leading to war in the Mediterranean area," political commentators predicted Turkey would gain important British trade and munitions loans.

The French government approved the British-Turkish accord and French leaders hinted that France expected to reach a similar agreement soon. Informed sources in Paris hailed the addition of Turkey to the British-French line-up as a sign that Soviet Russia also intends to join and as an attraction to Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

A Danzig senate order forbidding a memorial service Friday night for the Polish hero, Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, on grounds it might cause disorder brought a Polish protest and charge that the Danzig government could not "guarantee peace."

Polish newspapers declared Polish troops should be sent to Danzig to assure order there if the free city's senate cannot accept responsibility for it.

In Vienna, Catholic church authorities interpreted a Nazi order that personnel changes in the clergy must have party sanction as meaning Nazis would control appointments of new vicars, pastors and other church dignitaries.

Informed sources expressed belief that Vienna church authorities would ask the Vatican's advice and that much depended on how stringently the new rule was applied.

White-haired and visibly aged after more than a year's imprisonment by Nazi secret police in Vienna, Baron Louis Rothschild arrived in Paris, freed, a friend said, on condition not "to discuss his imprisonment under any circumstances."

The baron was taken into custody after Germany annexed Austria March 13, 1938, and was held in the Hotel Metropole, now Gestapo (secret police) headquarters in Vienna, where Kurt Schuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria, still is a prisoner.

Joseph C. Grew, United States ambassador to Japan, conferred again with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita. It was believed the status of the international settlement in Shanghai was discussed.

Sudden Japanese occupation of the Kiangsu international settlement at Amoy, China, Friday, was interpreted in authoritative quarters in Shanghai as a test of the reaction of foreign governments. A Japanese spokesman warned that similar action against the Shanghai international settlement "may be necessary."

Admiral Harry T. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet sent a destroyer to Amoy to investigate the situation there.

SIX REFUSE TO SIGN COAL PACT

New York, May 13 (AP).—The union shop contract with the United Mine Workers of America (C.I.O.) for which John L. Lewis fought through eight weeks of deadlock and growing national emergency, was approved today by 15 of the 21 bituminous coal associations in the Appalachian joint conference after six southern groups withdrew.

The approval of the contract wiped away the last trace of fear of coal shortage and will send back to work Monday 300,000 of the 345,000 miners employed in the Appalachian eight-state area.

Lewis, C.I.O. head and president of the United Mine Workers of America, said the miners were ready to sign "fortwith" the standard agreement adopted by the majority today with a number of independent companies within the six districts that withdrew from the conference.

He declared the United Mine

STOCK MARKET
New York, May 13 (AP).—Recovery signs appeared in today's brief stock market proceedings but, in most cases, they were so faint as to be barely discernible. It was a crawling session throughout with transfers of approximately 175,000 shares among the smallest in nearly a year. While fractional gains were plentiful at the close, numerous issues were unchanged and an assortment of minor declines was in evidence.

NEXT WEEK'S MAJESTIC ATTRACTIONS

Monday and Tuesday—"WUTHERING HEIGHTS"

Wednesday—"SPIRIT OF CULVER"

Thursday—"KING OF THE TURF"

Friday and Saturday—"DARK VICTORY"

"WUTHERING Heights" was prepared for the screen by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur from a novel by Emily Bronte. The cast includes Merle Oberon, Laurence Olivier, David Niven, Flora Robson, Donald Crisp, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Hugh Williams, Leo G. Carroll, Cecil Humphreys and Miles Mander.

Nearly 100 years old is the classic novel which inspired this excellent film of a strange romantic passion. Modern as this newspaper is the result on the screen—a tensely absorbing and dramatic probing of human minds and hearts in a manner approximating the Freudian.

Devotees of the novel will find the usual changes in certain aspects of characterization and plot, but they will also find the all-important mood, somber and grim and melancholy, captured triumphantly and beautifully. They will find their favorite characters, Heathcliff and Cathy, recreated brilliantly in the performances of Olivier and Miss Oberon, both of whom surpass themselves. And they will find, I think, a gratifying fidelity to the spirit of the tale.

Wuthering Heights is a manor in a desolate English moor-country. Heathcliff, adopted son, is tied to the place by his passion for Cathy, the daughter, even though her brother Hindley (Williams) has reduced him to stableboy status. The wild, dark gypsy strain in his blood finds its match in Cathy, who returns his passion and yet strains, with cruelty and wilfulness, away from him toward the brighter life promised by Edgar, son of the neighboring manor (Niven).

Driven away by Cathy's taunts, unknowing that her later impassioned confession to her maid Ellen (Robson)—"I am Heathcliff!" she cries—is the truth, the lover goes to America, returns wealthy to purchase Wuthering Heights and stand like a dark spectre over the marriage of Cathy and Edgar.

The inevitability of their passion, revealed time and again in fine dramatic scenes as Heathcliff wins and weds Edgar's sister (Fitzgerald) for revenge, leaves a trail of wrecked lives, carries on beyond death.

For writing, direction, acting—for artistic production in every sense—"Wuthering Heights" should be seen. And once seen, it will not be easily forgotten.

Chief Thunder Cloud, although a full-blooded Cherokee, had to take a course of sun-lamp treatments to darken his body for the title role of Paramount's "Geronimo," story of the Apache war lord who terrorized the southwest for 10 years a generation ago.

"THE Spirit of Culver" has Jackie Cooper, Freddie Bartholomew, Tim Holt, Henry Hull, Andy Devine, Gene Reynolds, Kathryn Kane, Jackie Moran, Walter Tetley, Pierre Watkin and John Hamilton in the cast.

Cooper is hero of this second screen glorification of Culver Military academy. Bartholomew is his roommate. Cooper, a scholarship winner, has a father he believes was killed in the World War. The father (Hull) returns, a victim of shellshock instead of glorious death. The story unfolds with considerable suspense, and the note of Americanism—so popular in the current film product—is dominant. Clicks are registered by Cooper and Bartholomew, by Gene Reynolds and (of course) by Hull.

George O'Brien will be featured at the Strand next Saturday in "Trouble in Sundown."

"DARK Victory" has Bette Davis, George Brent, Humphrey Bogart, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Ronald Reagan, Henry Travers, Cora Witherspoon and Dorothy Peterson in the cast.

A bright and vivid society girl, Judith (Davis) travels a fast pace in parties and horses, refusing to acknowledge growing illness or her fear of it. Against her will she is taken to young Dr. Steele (Brent) who diagnoses her brain ailment, induces her to submit to an operation.

He learns the truth then—that she has only ten months to live—at the same time that they fall in love. With her secretary Ann (Fitzgerald) he enters a conspiracy of silence, proposes to Judy, determined to keep her as radiantly happy as love has made her. Steele and Ann know the end will come suddenly, the only warning an hour or so of growing blindness.

But Judy, by accident, learns her fate—and fear and outraged confidence turn her against her friends. She embarks on a reckless spree of riotous living, trying to forget fear. She finds the answer in conversation with her impudent trainer (Bogart) and the answer is courage. She goes to Steele, begs forgiveness, marries him for the little remaining time—and in the end achieves, in cheerful calm, her "victory over darkness."

The vehicle, for the remarkable Bette Davis, is an emotional field day as it will be for audiences. Since they gave her a statuette for "Dangerous" and "Jezebel" they'll have to give her a monument for this—as sure and deft a triumph of gamut-running as any actress has been given in pictures.

Equally remarkable is the fact that while dominating the film she still leaves room for a sincere and excellent characterization by Brent, for an impressive screen debut by the quietly charming Miss Fitzgerald, and for Bogart, even in a minor role, to register forcefully.

It's doubtful that a better performance will come out of Hollywood—at least until Bette, assisted by equally inspired writing and direction, makes another picture. Only an anti-climatic final sequence mars a solidly satisfying film.

The weekly musicales at Gettysburg college will be resumed Sunday evening in the Student Christian association building at 8:45 o'clock. Robert Fischer will play the piano and Dr. Francis C. Mason will read several poems. During the program Prof. W. Frederick Shaffer will present the annual awards to the singing members of the band, choir and orchestra who have served these college organizations for three years.

COMING to the Majestic during the week of May 22 are the following movies:

Wednesday—"The Return of Cisco Kid," with Warner Baxter and Lynn Bari.

Thursday—"Blackwell's Island," with John Garfield and Rosemary Lane.

Friday and Saturday—"Man of Conquest," with Richard Dix, Gail Patrick and Edward Ellis.
